THE PRIMARY.

MANY people consider voting a patriotic duty, but few take any interest in party organization to attend the primary. How are you going to get the people to attend the primaries then?

The primary is the unit of political organization, and is either used or abused. It is at the primaries practically that the members of the Legislature are named, although candidates are kept in the background until the conventions are held. States made in secret caucuses to which only a selected few are admitted, are put through and the people wonder at the choice of candidates which follows. The political trickster takes advantage of the ordinary voter's indifference and packs the primaries to put through his schemes. A political demagogue and spoilsman with an axe to grind finds the task easy to accomplish his ends and a ticket is formed which the republican voter cannot vote for and maintain his self respect. The choice of candidates for the legislature lies with the delegates to be chosen at the primaries tomorrow afternoon. Unless first class men, whose motives are not sinister, be elected delegates the conventions will reflect the wishes not of the respectable voter but of a small coterie of politicians, who have their program outlined in advance. Only safe party men who can be relied upon to represent the people and who will not sacrifice the party's interests to personal ends should be selected as delegates. It behooves every good citizen therefore to attend the primaries tomorrow and vote for clean politics.

NO ONE can be deceived by Editor Stacker's profession of faith but himself. The artful dodger seldom takes a hand in politics without an end in view, and no eleven hour conversion to county government by the Herald will satisfy the Republican voters who tomorrow afternoon have the naming of delegates to the district and territorial conventions. Now that the Herald has declared itself without reservation, why doesn't Sheriff Andrews' political manager also make an avowal on his behalf. Such an expression coming from the same source might be taken seriously and tend to clear the doubt which the Herald's silence fails to remove.

SPEAKING on behalf of West Hawaii, E. A. Fraser of Mahukona, is reported as saying: "There is one thing certain—the voters in our districts are expecting this Commission to produce a county law and the Republicans want it to be a Republican measure." This expression is voiced by the entire Island of Hawaii, and if the party fails to live up to its promise to speedily enact a county law, it will reap a whirlwind—for the vengeance of the people is slow but mighty.

FRED C. SMITH struck the keynote when he says Hilo cannot progress unless it has a first class hotel. This expression of opinion from a man of his wide experience and facilities of knowing what the traveling public want, should commend itself to the serious consideration of every citizen of Hilo who has the welfare of his home town at heart.

COMMUNICATION.

KAUNAHUA, July 22, 1904.

Mr. Editor—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to call the attention of the Hilo Board of Trade to the problem of growing all the forage required in Hilo and vicinity. I have on exhibition at the Board of Trade Rooms two kinds of forage plants, either of which will yield enormous quantities of the sweetest and best food per acre that I have ever seen. They can be cut several times per year. I have demonstrated the possibility to grow them here. Many thousands of dollars are sent out of Hilo each year for hay, and it is a very inferior kind of hay that comes to this market. Now, all of the money that is sent up to the coast for hay may just as well be kept at home, and it is a fact that has grown hoary with age that it is the money that circulates at home that makes a community prosperous. Keep the hay money at home. That will be one very great step toward local progress. I will gladly give any information desired. JIM MORRIS.

The Wireless Games.

Both Hilo and Honolulu clubs exchanged moves in the two wireless games of chess now being played. Great care is being exercised in Honolulu to gain every point, for the return moves are made deliberately and apparently after careful study. The moves made so far are as follows:

To Visit Hilo Again.

Commodore H. H. Sinclair, accompanied by his wife, daughter L. R. Freeman has arrived in Honolulu aboard his private yacht "Lurline," and will make Hilo his last port of call in the Hawaiian Islands, arriving about August 15th. The Commodore was so pleased with his first impressions of Hilo that he is loth to return to his California home without making the crescent city another visit.
